

How to write about yourself in the profile?

About me

The best teachers are those that love what they teach. My passion for understanding what drives society has led me to study fields from classical economics and evolution to historical materialism and psychoanalysis.

I love seeing my students experience those same "aha moments" I enjoy. That is why I teach. I'm interested in economic theory, evolutionary psychology and disruptive political and social trends.

Education:

Master's degree in International Relations and Diplomacy at University of Trieste (interdisciplinary study of economics, history, law, political science, psychology, sociology etc.)

Work experience:

Freelance writer and blogger (economics, international relations, politics and opinion)
2018 to present

Journalist at several online news sites based in Croatia
2019-2020

SUBJECTS I CAN TEACH: Economics, Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, International Economics, Development Economics, Political Economy, Political Science, International Relations.